

FORGIVENESS

When we confess our sins, we're saying "I'm sorry."
When we forgive, we're saying "I still love you."

What are these faces saying?

Put a square around the sad faces saying "I'm sorry."

Put a circle around the happy faces saying "I still love you."

.....

Draw your face saying, "I'm sorry."

Then draw yourself saying, "I still love you."

Pre-Reader

We're in the Season after Pentecost!
The color of the season is GREEN.
Sometimes we call this season the "growing season."

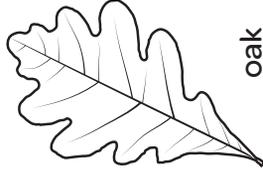

Growing and green—like leaves!

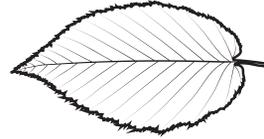

maple

elm

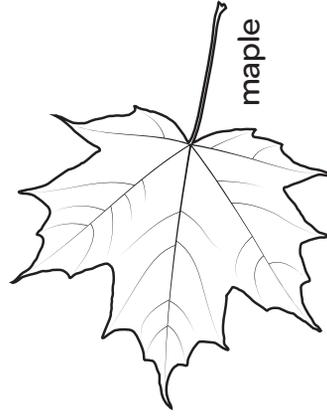

oak

Match the same growing leaves. Draw a line between the leaves that are the same. Then color them all green!

FORGIVENESS

Listen for a time of confession and forgiveness during worship.

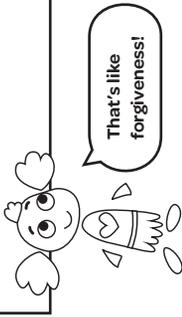

Write some words you hear during the confession and forgiveness.

How do people look when it's happening? Draw them here.

Why did you need to ask for forgiveness? Write about it in this box. Then scratch out the words until you can't see them.

What is it like to know you are forgiven?

488, 489, 490.
Whew. Forgiving 490 times is a lot!

We're in the Season after Pentecost. The color for this season is GREEN. This season is sometimes called Ordinary Time. Pentecost is the longest season of the church year.

WHAT'S NEW IN YOUR PEW?

Look for the LORD'S PRAYER in your hymnal, worship book, bulletin, worship folder, or whatever you call this resource at your church.

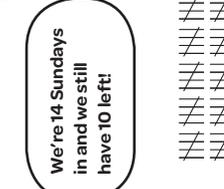

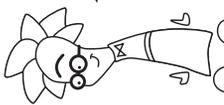

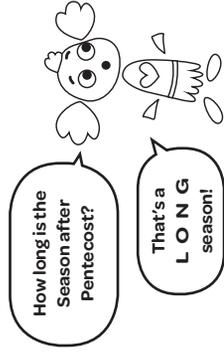

Find the sentence that starts with these words. Write the rest of the sentence here. (We started it for you.)

..... And forgive us. ....

..... What word do you use in your church: trespasses, sins, or debts? .....
 Trespasses     Sins     Debts

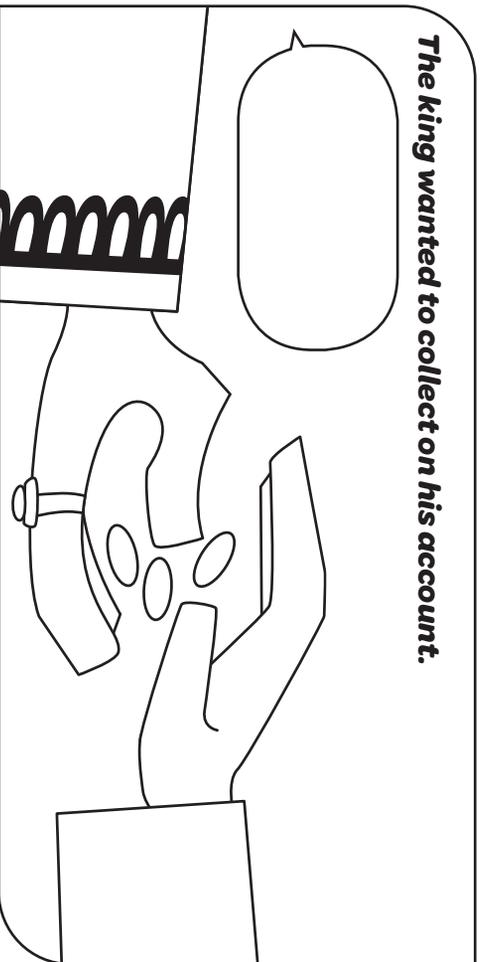

..... Did you know they mean the same thing? .....
80!

This parable needs a script.
Write what the characters in the parable are saying.

The king wanted to collect on his account.

Then the servant found another servant who owed him money and he had him thrown into prison.

The servant begged the king for patience. Out of pity, the king released the servant and forgave his debt.

When the king found out, he was very angry and ordered the first servant to pay his whole debt back.
